

Midas Funds Release Updated Portfolio Manager's Journal

NEW YORK, NY – April 20, 2020 – The Midas Funds released today an updated Portfolio Manager's Journal.

Midas Fund seeks primarily capital appreciation and protection against inflation and, secondarily, current income through investments primarily in precious metals mining and other natural resource companies, as well as gold, silver, and platinum bullion. The Fund's holding of Fresnillo plc., a gold and silver producer located in Mexico, performed well in the last month. On the other hand, shares of OceanaGold Corp., an Australian mining company with operations in the Philippines, New Zealand, and the United States, have underperformed in the last month. Using a disciplined approach, the Fund seeks to emphasize gold and other natural resource companies offering financial strength, expanding production profiles, strong free cash flow, and promising exploration potential. The Fund currently is invested in a global portfolio of primarily large and medium gold and diversified mining companies, precious metals royalty companies, and ETFs holding gold and silver bullion.

Midas Magic seeks capital appreciation. Relative to the S&P 500, the Fund's portfolio currently is more weighted in cyclical companies, such as financial services, and is underweight in economically sensitive and defensive industries. The Fund generally focuses on companies that appear to have strong operations showing superior returns on equity and assets with reasonable valuations. The Fund's position in Cabot Oil & Gas Corporation, a company engaged in the development, exploitation, and exploration of oil and gas properties in the United States, performed well in the last month. On the other hand, the Fund's holding Essent Group Ltd., a holding company that through its subsidiaries offers mortgage insurance, reinsurance, and risk management products, hindered the Fund's performance in the past month. Each of Mastercard Inc. Class A, Alphabet Inc. Class A, and Berkshire Hathaway Inc. Class B currently comprise more than 10% of the Fund's net assets.

There is no assurance that the Midas Funds' investment objectives will be attained. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.

One of Midas' guiding principles is that we will communicate with our shareholders and prospective investors as candidly as possible because we believe shareholders and prospective investors benefit from understanding our investment philosophy and approach. Our views and opinions regarding the prospects of our portfolio holdings, the Midas Funds, and the economy are "forward looking statements" as defined under the U.S. federal securities laws, which may or may not be accurate and may be materially different over future periods. Generally, the words "believe," "expect," "intend," "estimate," "anticipate," "project," "will," "may," "should," "plan," or the negative of such terms and similar expressions identify forward looking statements, which generally are not historical in nature. Forward looking statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to materially differ from a Fund's historical experience and its current expectations or projections indicated in any forward looking statements. These risks include, but are not limited to, equity securities risk, corporate bonds risk, credit risk, interest rate risk, leverage and borrowing risk, additional risks of certain securities in which the Midas Funds invest, management risk, and other risks discussed in the Midas Funds' filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We disclaim any obligation to update or alter any forward looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise. Thus, you should not place undue reliance on forward looking statements, which speak only as of the date they are made.
